Automobiles, Trucks And Horse Involved In Series Of Mishaps

Highway accidents within a 25-mile radius of Belle Glade have claimed three human lives and one horse during a 5-day period from Saturday through Wednesday.

Lola Kathryn Cross, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cross, Jr., of Pahokee was instantly killed last Saturday about midday when the horse she was riding in the limits of

A 3-car accident occurred just before noon Monday on Highway 80 near Okeechobee Camp when a car stopped before making a left turn into the Negro school because of oncoming traffic. The car immediately behind him, driven by George Brian with his wife as a passenger, of Tiffin, Ohio came to a complete stop. A third car driven by Michael Berg of Miami crashed into the rear of the Brian car, driving it into the first vehicle and knocking it completely off the road.

Berg was the only occupant of any of the vehicles requiring medical attention. He had 15

He was later fined $50 in Justice of the Peace court for causing an accident. All three cars suffered extensive damage.

Officer Hilton Bonard of the Belle Glade police force was summoned to the scene of the 3-car accident (which occurred outside the city limits) to direct traffic until a State Highway Patrolman could be obtained to take over. While answering the call Officer Bonard, in a police car, crashed into a delivery truck of the Glades Laundry and Dry Cleaners at the intersection of Main street and Avenue E. No injuries resulted from this collision, but the police car was damaged to the extent of $400 and the delivery truck $200 worth.

Corvette (sports model Chevrolet) being driven north on Highway 27 about 20 miles south of South Bay went out of control and crashed into the side of a heavy 20-wheel dump truck driven by Jesse Coward, Negro. Mrs. Dorothy Sheldon, 35, of Oxford, Mich., was instantly killed and Joseph A. Morgan, 53, of Hamtramck, Mich., driver of the car, was seriously injured and is in critical condition at Good Samaritan hospital. The plastic-bodied sports car was completely demolished. It struck the truck at the rear of the cab and went under the tandem rear axles of the heavy vehicle.

Jacob Vander Kaay, 58, of Sarasota was killed Wednesday shortly before midnight when his car and a dump truck being operated by Jack Riley of Delray Beach collided headon a short distance east of 20-Mile-Bend on Highway 80. According to State Highway Patrol report of the accident Vander Kaay was driving on the left hand side of the road when the accident occurred. Riley was released from Good Samaritan hospital after first aid treatment for cuts and abrasions.

Both Riley and Coward, drivers of the trucks involved in the fatal accidents, have been relieved of all blame after investigations.

Sunday night, November 7, less than two weeks ago, Sharon Meade, 6-year-old daughter of Mrs. Grace Meade of Miami, was drowned in the Hillsboro canal when a car driven by Edward L. Ford crashed through the railing on Six-Mile-Bend bridge into the canal. Ford and Mrs. Meade were rescued from

NEWS VIEWS

By B. D. DOW

When folks mention "the greatest show on earth" you usually think of the circus with its bands, clowns, animals and acrobats twisting themselves into pretzel shapes. But one show that's hard to top is the annual display of new models put out by the automobile manufacturers from October to January. It plays to the biggest audience in the world, and every season the act is as popular as ice cream at a children's party.

Some of us remember when cars and roads were rougher than a file. But with competition on all sides the car makers had to keep producing a better product. Better cars made demands for new roads. Along the way dozens of other industries have been helped... oil, steel, glass, rubber, electrical products, and paint. Make way for the greatest show on earth!

A local philosopher claims that children and canoes are about equally hard to control, but they both seem to get along a little better if they're paddled from the rear. Rigid control of the purity and accuracy of every ingredient is an important part of dependable prescription care. You're sure of this accuracy and carefulness when you bring your doctor's prescription to the "prescription store," GLADES DRUG STORE.

In the third stanza a Port Pierce drive from its own 44 moved the ball down to the Belle Glade 9. The defensive minded Rams refused to budge on the ground and the Eagles had to take to the airways. A fourth down pass from Parker to Richmond was completed for the winning tally. The extra point attempt by Children fell short.

Early in the fourth quarter, the battling Rams moved to the visitor's 24 but a fumble stopped the drive.

Symptoms

Symptoms of molybdenum toxicity in cattle range from mild roughening of the hair coat in light cases to scours, abortion, and sloughing of skin in severe occurrences of the trouble. Severe molybdenum toxicity has resulted in losses of animals. The condition occurs on peat and muck soils. Despite liberal use of copper to counteract the excess molybdenum and changes in feeding practices, molybdenum toxicity in such peat and muck areas is not uncommon.

The third graders are writing original stories about animals of the zoo, after having seen a film, "Animals of the Zoo".

Here are two of the stories:

Elephants — Sometimes you can kill elephants, they are the strongest animals in the world. They can use their trunks to help them fight. They attack many people but some of the elephants are good friends. They are good fighters. Elephants are a favorite food of elephants but they also like. In this show the elephant eats 600 lbs. of hay a day. This story by Thomas Serape.

By HERB MOSHER

Today we have a long awaited guest column from the Hon. Don McCarthy, of Nassau, Bahamas, a distinguished author, a real sportsman, an expert angler, a rear admiral in the Iowa State Navy. Here it is: "NASSAU, Bahamas — The executive committee of the Society for the Conservation of Energy Through Unhindered Lolling About met this week to consider an urgent appeal for help.

"The occasion was serious enough for a full meeting of the membership. But it was the Society's jolling about period only one member showed up. This was the president-chairman-secretary who had in his pocket of his Bahamas shorts a sufficient number of proxies to make the meeting legal.

"Lying full length under the shade of a coconut palm the president-chairman (secretary read the creed of the S.F.T.C.O.E.T.U.A. "Don't run when you can walk. Don't walk when you can stand. Don't stand when you can sit. Don't sit when you can recline.

"After which he called the meeting to order and took up the appeal for help. The S.O.S. was addressed to the Nassau chapter of the S.F.T.C.O.E.T.U.A. by one Herb Mosher of Winter Park, Florida. Mr. Mosher conducted a column called OUTDOOR FLORIDA in several of that State's sprightly newspapers. In plaintive phrases he begged the Society to help him locate a "Garden of Eden."

The eminent — and at times energetic and effulgent — columnist described his version of a "Garden of Eden" succinctly: "No auto traffic, no raucous noises, no hustle, bustle, smog or noxious fumes; no polluted bays, creeks, ponds or ocean.

"All he asks for is plenty of fresh, flower-scented air, miles of gleaming, golden beaches; a soothing atmosphere and an inexhaustible supply of hungry fish.

"The president-chairman-secretary, with a half-open eye on a nearby fisherman, considered Mr. Mosher's problem with deep sympathy and complete understanding.

"Just as he was about to dictate a reply to the distressed columnist he saw the fisherman catch an arm-long fish of silvery hue. He opened both eyes wide, struggled to his feet and wandered off for his own spinning outfit.

"Some day, he decided, he would find time to drop a note to Herb — even if it upset his jolling about exercise.

"He would tell Herb that the Bahamas have a string of made-to-order Gardens of Eden. Like so many gems dropped in an indigo and turquoise setting of sparkling sea they stretch from a point 60 miles east of PORT PIERCE, FLORIDA to within sight (almost) of the coast of Cuba and Haiti.

"There are big ones and small ones — high ones and low ones; round ones and long ones. There are hundreds of them, all free of motor traffic, gasoline fumes, ringing telephones and screaming machinery.

"All Herb has to do, the president-chairman-secretary thought dreamily, is select an island or cove that suits his fancy and there he will be — plumb in the middle of a Garden of Eden.

"He can throw away his razor, put his shoes in storage, forget taxes, ignore the threat of the Hoomb and hang the "gone fishin'" sign prominently on the porch door.

"Nothing to do but fish or loiter about watching the melons, mangoes, papayas and avocados grow.

"That's the life for Herb, alright, the P-C-S thought. No neon lights, no blaring horns, no screaming brakes. No noises but the breeze in the trees, the surf on the shore and the flop of a fish in the cove.

"Some day the P-C-S of the S.F.T.C.O.E.T.U.A. will write all about the Bahamas to Herb, if it can get around to it. That is, if he probably never receive Herb's answer, for some of the islands don't have mail service and the last time anybody saw the P-C-S he was poring over a chart of the Bahamas.

"His finger was resting on a tiny dot at the far end of a chain of islands.

Too Late to Classify

Years ago Thomas A. Edison said, "There is only one P.T. and 20 million people are going to find it out."

Having just returned from a visit to New York, I'd like to say that Edison was right. There is only one New York and too many people have found it out.

As our plane banked in the setting sun for a landing at New York, the aerial view of lower Manhattan with its towering skyscrapers was truly inspiring. It is a majestic monument of steel and concrete that does not reveal grimy, musty, smelly subways, the traffic-jammed streets, overcrowded tenements, dingy lots and countless other unpleasant features that must be included in the overall picture of this or any other big city.

As I sit in my quiet, comfortable office, writing this column and look out on a street unburdened with traffic, hear the friendly chirp of birds and see colorful flowers and green clad trees and palms that sway lazily in a sun drenched breeze, it is hard to realize that only a few hours away millions upon millions of other folks are swarming in and out of subways like cattle in a dipping vat or buzzing in and out of gigantic buildings like bees swarming about a hive.

I can close my eyes and see the milling throngs, pushing and shoving in Times Square, visualize the thousands of frustrated taxi passengers who are sitting and watching the meter ticking away as the cab stands motionless in a hopeless traffic jam or moves at snail pace, a few feet at a time.

I can hear the burly bus driver as he leans from his window to hurl an uncompromising epithet to another motorist or careless pedestrian, while the never-ending crescendo of squawking automobile horns still rings in my ears.

I marvel at the mounted policeman who sits nonchalantly astride a sleek horse while traffic swirls so close you wonder how the animal can stand so calm and serene in such a madhouse.

I see the never-ending stream of pedestrian traffic part just enough to avoid the blind beggar who stands bucking the current as he holds his cup in one hand and the strap of a seeing-eye dog in the other numbingly squawking automobile horns still rings in my ears.

My nostrils catch the acrid smell of the underground as I'm seated in a subway car. Across the aisle sits a man who is trying to read a newspaper that he has folded to two-column width so that allows cannot block his view. Next to him sits a colored woman her lap piled with bundles. Next to me a student with a book open on his lap is trying to work a geometry problem, writing on a sheet of paper with a stub of a pencil mindful of the jolts and swerve of the speeding train.

My mind again pictures the throngs standing motionless on the escalators, most of them impatient with its slow movement. They stand staring into space, thinking God knows what, alone in the middle of a mass of humanity.

Everywhere it is "Go, go, go, move, move, move hurry, hurry, hurry" as the millions "move it up" and apparently liking it. But this is not the city; it is only the little bit that the visitor brushes up against. The city itself is so big, presents so many phases, that I doubt if any single individual could ever describe New York. I salute you while I am humbly thankful that I am not a part of it.

GETTING THE JOB DONE.—Mr. Chas. R. Short, of Clermont (left), and Alex Raymer witness a demonstration of the Short Deercorator recently at the Experiment Station. Mr. Raymond is the owner of a 4,000 acre plantation just east of Canal Point on which the Kruse Brothers have planted 400 acres of ramie this summer. Mr. Short, formerly Chief Engineer of General Motors research and known world-wide as an inventor, has shipped types of this machine to several foreign countries where they are successfully used in ramie and other fiber fields.

The Short machine delivers an in-line ribbon of fiber that is in demand by ramie fiber manufacturers. The principle of the machine has about reached the stage of improvement where it can be applied to a larger machine of economical capacity, in a volume and mechanical production operation. Mr. Short's work on the electric started now common on all automobiles as well as the V-belt, has carried his name throughout the world among modern scientists.

how Advertising helps you

BY CHARLES B. ROTH

What Do You Know?

YOU have heard it many times. Two persons will meet. One will say, "What do you know?" It is a common everyday American greeting.

It would be a good idea if each of us would ask ourselves the question, "What do you know?" and add to it this phrase, "because you have advertising to help you!"

You would be astonished if you were to check on your store of knowledge to find out what much of what you know does trace in the ads you read in the newspapers. For the newspaper has become the great fountain of knowledge.

For example, how far would "new" things like radio and TV, vacuum cleaners, ammoniated tooth paste, chlorophyll, vitamins, hormones, wonder drugs, popular best sellers, modern furniture, and whatever else you might want to name, have gone without the power of advertising?

Before advertising entered our lives so strongly, so frequently it took years for a new idea to "take hold." Now new ideas are taking hold almost every night. There's new.

But here in America, with the force of advertising producing us to seek the new, always the new, we have no chance to become static or content.

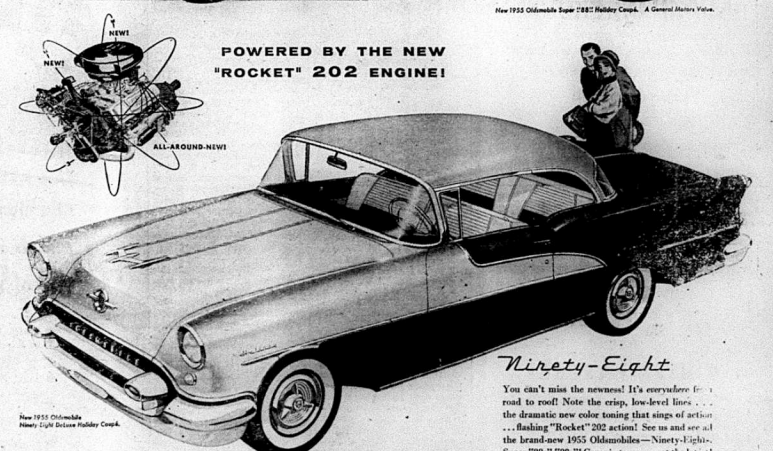

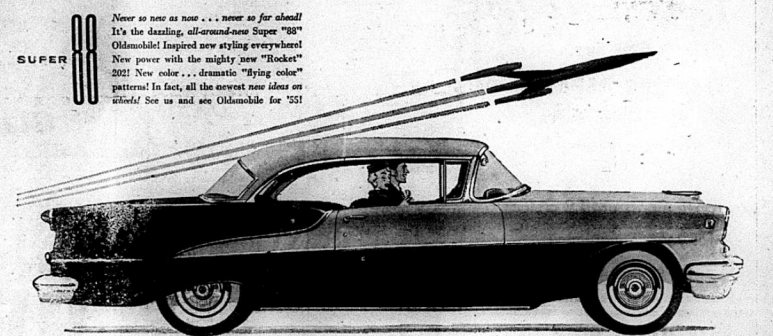

Argue as much as you like about whether that's good or bad, the fact remains America is ahead of the world in practically every thing!

Glades Dentists Attend Convention

According to reports from the convention the dental drill of the future will be completely painless. Electronic drills will emit sound waves to wear down the cavities. In the future false teeth will be implanted into the bone structure or foundation removable only by a dentist.

Advice Saves Time, Trouble And Money

One of the most valuable things you can do to save your teeth from cavities is this: Clean your teeth by brushing thoroughly immediately after each meal — and after eating anything between meals. If you can't brush them after some meals, rinse out your mouth thoroughly with water. This will save you many dental troubles, also time and money.

State Assists 5364 Persons In County Month Of October

Thomas E. Penick, Chairman of the District Board No. 10 of the State Department of Public Welfare, reports that in Palm Beach County 5364 persons were assisted in the three categories of public assistance for the month of October.

In addition, 131 children received service during the month, 18 of whom were in foster homes. The total State and local cost for these child welfare services was $1,571.78. There were 11 adoption petitions studied for the Circuit Court. These are children placed in homes independent of service through a licensed child placement agency, and the Welfare Board is responsible according to law to make these reports to the Court.

Bob-White Quail Is A Hardy Specimen

Here is a bird beloved by sportsmen, bird watchers, farmers, artists and musicians and probably disliked by no one. It has been codded, persecuted, neglected, studied, protected by law and by popular opinion, fed, starved, helped and hindered. It has vanished from much of its original range, increased in numbers in some areas, established itself and been introduced in others. It stays by its home territory the year round and survives fire, heat, storm, flood, snow and ice. It needs to be better understood and the National Wildlife Federation in part through this sort of article hopes to help toward that end.

The bob-white quail is about 11 inches long with a wingspread of about the same amount. It may weigh up to 9 ounces but commonly has about a 6-ounce weight. It has a short tail, a generally mottled brown appearance with light underparts and rather conspicuously contrasting light and dark areas on the head and throat. Where the male is black on the head the hen is brown.

The range for four subspecies covers most of the United States, these subspecies including the Florida, the Key West, the Texas and the Eastern. Its enemies are man, foxes, birds of prey and disease but its greatest numbers may be reached in areas where its enemies are abundant. If ample cover is available for the needed protection. Under intelligent management and strict following of known rules providing survival, it may maintain itself with suitable harvestable surplus. Its value as a destroyer of insects and weed seeds, as an inspiring songster and as a friendly neighbor must not be overlooked in any evaluation of its qualities.

A pair of bob-white may remain as mates for over a year even though the cock may find it necessary to win his bride each year. The cock bird builds the nest on the ground though several birds may share a common nest. The hen lays from 7 to 28 eggs just over an inch long and these are incubated by both birds for 23 to 24 days. The average hatch is about 86 percent.

If a nest is broken up or the young are killed early a second brood may be established. Lone parents take part in the rearing of the family. Survival in winter is possible largely through the cooperation of the members of a flock, it being rather essential that the size of the coveys do not drop below 10 birds. The family usually remains together through the first winter with the breakdown coming with the spring breeding season. The individual range of a bob-white is usually about one square mile for its lifetime.

Game managers have evolved many ingenious methods of getting information on the abundance of these splendid birds and their recommendations are usually followed there is an excellent chance that the birds may remain to please all of their many admirers. It is doubtful if there are many forms of wildlife that rank so high in popularity with so many persons of different interests. Long may we hear bob-white over a generous portion of its suitable range.

Hearty Response From Methodists In Korean Drive—Building Fund

The congregation of the Community Methodist Church in Belle Glade joined with all the churches throughout Methodism in a drive to collect funds to help rebuild churches, orphanages, hospitals and schools in war-torn Korea, at their morning worship service on Sunday, Nov. 14.

After an appeal by the Rev. H. Edward Garrett, a recorded message by Bishop John Bransford of Jacksonville was delivered to the congregation which responded with an offering in miniature "rice" bags symbolic of the sacrificial offerings of rice which the Koreans themselves have been going to rebuild their churches destroyed by the ravages of war. The congregation was stirred by a hymn sung by a little blind, orphan Korean boy on recording which was a part in the service dedicated to raising money to help his homeland.

Announcement of the results of the Building Fund drive was delayed because of the fact that the work has not all been completed but Rev. Garrett announced that commitments were well over the amount required to start construction on the new church building. Workmen were on hand bright and early Monday morning and work was begun. The sanctuary is now in process of being plastered. The plans are now for the completion of the new church by Palm Sunday at which time Dr. Clark M. Cotton will begin a series of evangelistic services to continue through Easter Sunday.

Plans are being made for special Youth activities for the month of December. Each Sunday night the theme for the services will be centered around young people. The minister will in the near future release some very interesting announcements about these special services. The attendance at the evening services continues to hold up with a large Junior choir singing each Sunday night during this month. The Pastor is preaching a series of sermons on the Apostles' Creed. Come early if you want a good seat!

A day's work is a day's work, neither more nor less, and the man who does it needs a day's sustenance, a night's repose, and due leisure, whether he be painter or ploughman.

How Christian Science Heals

"What Gratitude Can Do"

WSWN (900 kc.)

Sunday 9:30 a. m.

YOU NEED YOUR CHURCH YOUR CHURCH NEEDS YOU

Churches of Christ, Scientist

How the spiritually correct view of God and man destroys sin and restores peace of mind will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body."

Scriptural selections include the following from the Bible: 11:1: "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou troubled within me? hope in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures," are the following: 390: 4-9:

"We cannot deny that Life is self-sustained and that we never deny the everlasting harmony to Soul, simply because, to the mortal senses, there is seeming discord. It is our ignorance of God, and our ignorance of the principle which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony."

Speaking The Truth Subject Of Juniors At Baptist Church

"Speaking The Truth," was the topic of discussion in the Junior department of Sunday School at the First Baptist Church Sunday morning. This program was the second in a series this month on the subject of "Doors of the World" in the Scripture for the morning, Exodus 20:16, one of the Ten Commandments, and Zephaniah 8:16-17, the group found that God expects us to tell the truth all the time and two of the things God says he hates are lying and to imagine evil.

Early music was by Susan Clark Defect-free Juniors and teachers competed for the banner which went to the class of Mrs. Josephine Hayes class of 9 year girls with a grade of B second with the highest grade was Mr. Jack Little's class of 10 year girls and third was Mrs. Mary Edwards class of 12 year girls with a total present in her class of 12. Those honored with the birthday song were Nancy Roberts Shirley Liddon and Roy Bearden.

Father Petrie To Speak Daily Next Week Over WSWN

Episcopalians To Have Business Meet

Next Sunday immediately after the 9 o'clock service in the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity, the congregation of St. John the Apostle Episcopal Church will hold its annual business meeting. Sunday School will be suspended for the day. Guest speaker will be the Very Rev. Wm. L. Hargrave, executive secretary of the diocese of South Florida. The immediate project will be to adopt a budget for the operation of the church during 1955 and the raising of enough cash to start in with a new church building.

Scientists To Have Thanksgiving Sermon

A special Thanksgiving service, open to the general public, is announced by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Belle Glade, for Thanksgiving Day. The service will be held in the church edifice at S. E. E. The latter portion of the service will be devoted to spontaneous expressions of gratitude by Christian Scientists for God's goodness as shown in spiritual growth, healings, and other blessings.

Selections on the subject of praise and thanksgiving to God will be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, in a specially prepared Lesson-Sermon entitled "Thanksgiving."

The service is open to the general public and local church members have invited everyone to attend.

Read Hebrews 11:23-27

None of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself. (Acts 20:24)

As a result of the separation of her parents, Teresa was handicapped at an early age. A friend invited her to the mission. She became a regular attendant. Her stepfather was not interested in religion; he cruelly punished her for attending the mission. Her mother was not sympathetic, either. Although respect for parental authority is deeply rooted in Latin traditions, and although Christians foster such respect as a basic virtue, Teresa felt a first duty to God. So she continued to attend the mission.

Her faithfulness was rewarded by an opportunity to attend a Christian school. Because of the nobility of her character, she became a leader among the Christians of her city and country. She also had the privilege of seeing her mother and sister become Christians and join the church.

PRAYER
Father, may we not flee from pain and suffering. Grant wisdom and prudence that the cause of right may not suffer because of our hasty or untimely action. May we know the true spirit of humility without false heroism, suffer that truth may triumph and be purified by the fires of pain. In the name of Him who suffered to save. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Am I willing to suffer that the cause of righteousness may finally triumph.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 21, 1954—

BASED ON THE INTERNATIONAL BIBLE LESSONS

FOR CHRISTIAN TEACHING

SUBJECT—God's Abundance for Man's Need

SCRIPTURE—Psalm 104:1-5, 10-14, 24, 33.

Prepared by Bob Lanier

In this week's lesson we turn to the Psalms. Some have designated the Book of Psalms as "The Hymn Book of the Second Temple, and have endeavored, therefore, to make the purpose of the Psalms wholly liturgical. It is evident, however, that some of the Psalms were written for the purpose of public worship. In the particular Psalm 104, which is the subject of our lesson today, it is apparent that this psalm of Scripture is for the individual. It is the pouring forth of the individual's heart in praise and thanksgiving to God. By reading you will find that Psalm 104 and 104 begin and end with the same call to praise. You know that when God created this earth and all the things that are herein. He didn't simply create and stop. He created, then made provision for His creation. Water, plants, air, the heavens and all the other things too numerous to mention and yet how we fall in our every day lives to pause for a moment in praise and thanksgiving for what God has done. We are approaching the Thanksgiving season and instead of this nation sincerely giving thanks, most of the populous will only think of it as a day off with filled stomachs and a rousing good time in spirit of the world.

When the Pilgrims first landed, their thanks to God was for abundance of things, but they really were thankful for scarcely enough with which to get along. The going had been rough in England and Holland and all of these people had been filled with so much concern. They had even gone through much suffering, their ocean voyage had certainly not been pleasant, scarcely any of this had been in their minds as they noted their first harvest. Let us not forget the bounty of woods and streams. There is the Bible injunction that we have to give thanks for it all and for all his goodness to us. Of course, this should not be just an annual event, we should praise and thank Him daily for all, and we are in His hands and He can bring it all to a close at any time. Let us never forget to thank and praise God at all times for His goodness to us and especially during this season, knowing full well the manifold blessings that have been bestowed by Him on this our NATION.

This is a beautiful poem written by William L. Stediger in which is expressed a timely thought for this lesson today:
"I saw God wash the world last night
With his sweet thoughts on dry;
And then when morning came
I saw him hang it out to dry;
"He washed each slender blade of grass
And every trembling tree;
He flung his showers against the hills
And swept the rolling sea.
"The white rose is a deeper white;
The red a richer red
Since God washed every fragrant face
And put them all to bed.
"There's not a bird, there's not a bee
That swings along the way,
But is a cleaner bird and bee
Than it was yesterday.
"I saw God wash the world last night;
Ah, would he had washed me
As clean as all my dirt and dirt
As that old white bird tree!"

Next week — "In Time of Trouble."
